'THEY ROBBED US OF OUR HISTORY'

Heritage campaigner blasts dawn demolition of Red House

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A BUILDING steeped in the history of Tottenham Hotspur Football Club has been demolished, dashing the hopes of campaigners who had been fighting save it.

The Red House – a Victorian red-brick house situated in High Road, Tottenham, adjacent to the main entrance of Spurs' White Hart Lane ground – was pulled down as part of the club's ambitious £400million plan to build a new 61,000 seater stadium.

The building's demolition has outraged campaigners who have been fighting a long-running campaign since 2009 to preserve it as part of the club's heritage.

A well-known landmark to generations of Spurs fans, it was memorable because of the distinctive clock and famous gold cockerel on a ball which used to hang from the top of it. They were removed in 2008.

Bought in 1921 after the team's 1-0 FA Cup final victory over Wolverhampton Wanderers, The Red House served as double-winning manager Bill Nicholson's offices as well as housing the club's boardroom and trophy cabinets. It was abandoned in 1982 when the new West Stand was built and had been used as a ticket collection point and offices for community and security staff.

Justin Hinchcliffe, of Walpole Road, said the demolition was "disgraceful".

Mr Hinchcliffe, 35, who is a member of Tottenham Conservatives, said: "We were enthusiastic about the proposed new stadium as it would spruce up the area and bring much-needed money and jobs into the area. However, there was a proviso: Spurs kept the historic buildings along High Road and incorporated them into their new design."

Mr Hinchcliffe believes the reason the building was destroyed in the early hours was to avoid protests from campaigners.

He said: "When do you see or hear of demolitions taking place early on a Saturday morning?"

"They knew that there would be widespread opposition by local people. Indeed, had I received a tip-off I may well have chained myself to it. They have robbed us of our history while we were sleeping."

A club spokesman strenuously denied there was anything underhand in the timing of the demolition.

He said: "The works took place over the weekend as they required the closing of a bus lane due to health and safety reasons."

"Works started at 7am on Saturday and had to be completed before the end of Sunday in order to allow the bus lane to reopen for the start of the working week."

"The buildings have been removed in order to address and improve crowd safety and crowd flow issues along High Road."

"This issue has long been a concern for the club and was largely caused by the location of these buildings, which narrowed the pavement width to less than two metres, alongside the bus lane."

"Prior to the weekend's activity, key features of the three locally listed buildings were removed in order that they can be retained, preserved and used either within the 'Tottenham Experience', on the site of the new stadium or within local heritage collections such as Bruce Castle Museum."

The project promises an investment of more than half a billion pounds into Tottenham. When the scheme is fully complete, it will mean 3,500 jobs, with £293m pumped into the local economy each year.

By-election looms following Ryan's decision to quit

A HARINGEY Labour councillor has quit because of conflict of interest rules.

James Ryan, who has represented Haringey ward for the past two years, is standing down because the new job he is about to take up excludes him from holding political office.

His shock resignation has triggered a council by-election, which is likely to be closely contested as two of the ward's three seats – including his – were gains from the Liberal Democrat opposition in the elections in May 2014.

A date for the by-election is yet to be announced.

Mr Ryan said: "It has been an honour and a privilege to serve the local people of Haringey ward and I am sad to be stepping down. I am about to embark on a new professional role, which restricts me from retaining this political position, and I have therefore tendered my immediate resignation."

"I wish all my council colleagues the best for the future as they continue to work hard for our great borough and I thank them, and everyone in Haringey ward, for making the last two years so enjoyable."

Empty homes figures prove bone of contention as political rivals trade blows

SHOCK figures for the number of empty homes in Haringey have sparked conflict, with the way the government defines a vacant dwelling a major bone of contention with the council.

The Labour-controlled local authority has hit back after Haringey Lib Dems branded as "a scandal" government statistics which show there were 2,397 vacant dwellings in the borough in 2015 – the most up-to-date figures available.

The criteria the government uses is so broad, says Haringey Council, that among those properties are hundreds which are being refurbished, converted and repaired.

And the figure does not just apply to council-owned dwellings, but social housing and privately-owned homes.

The council has strongly refuted Lib Dems' claims that it has allowed thousands of homes to remain vacant while those in need spend years on its housing waiting list.

It says it takes tough action – including compulsory purchase and enforced sales – against owners who leave homes empty for long periods and has taken enforcement action to bring 273 homes back into use over the past five years.

It says that of the 14,318 council-owned homes its arms-length management organisation, Homes for Haringey, manages, only 87 are currently empty because they are in the process of being prepared for re-letting after the old tenancy ended.

"That's just 0.6 per cent of the council's housing stock," said Alan Strickland, cabinet member for housing, regeneration and planning.

"So, despite government policy making it ever more difficult for us to build affordable homes, Haringey is leading a new programme of council-built housing that will help more families find a modern, high-quality home."

Martin meets the man who pulled him from burning car

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THIS was the heartfelt moment when Martin met George, the hero who dragged the 67-year-old clear of his burning car just seconds before it exploded.

In the aftermath of the drama which unfolded in Green Dragon Lane, Winchmore Hill, on Saturday, June 11, Martin Griffin did not get his saviour's name and was delighted when they were reunited this week after he tracked him down.

Mr Griffin is an amputee, having lost a leg after contracting a bone infection when he was in his 40s.

He was struggling to get himself clear of his burning Chrysler car when George Perad dashed over and dragged him away, seconds before the flames reached the petrol tank and it exploded.

Mr Griffin, a company director, who owns property across London, said: "It was very frightening at the time. I was getting out of the car, but obviously struggling because of my stump.

"Then George came over and dragged me about 100 yards clear. There wasn't a scratch on me, but I can't say for sure what would have happened if George hadn't been there."

Mr Griffin had only just dropped off his wife's nephew and young baby and was on his way back home to Lakenheath, Southgate when his Chrysler caught fire unexpectedly.

Mr Perad, 32, who works for Barnet Council and is also a martial arts trainer at Titan Dragon Lane, a mixed martial arts academy, in Argon Road, Edmonton, recalled: "I ran to the car and was shouting, 'Get away from the car' - but another person, a lady standing nearby, she could see inside and she shouted, 'He's only got one leg'."

"It was one of those cars that has a gas tank and a petrol tank and I knew that once the fire reached the petrol tank it would all be over, but I didn't really think about myself, I just thought I needed to get him out."

Mr Perad, who lives in Cockfosters, added: "I'd like to think anyone else would have done the same thing. I wouldn't describe myself as a hero really."

Mr Griffin, who joked that his next car would be a Bentley, has offered to take Mr Perad out for a meal as a thank you.

Much obliged!: Martin Griffin, right, with George Perad

Should we stay – or should we go?

THE referendum on Britain's membership of the European Union is fast approaching and thousands of Enfield residents will cast their vote tomorrow.

Schools, nurseries and community centres will be open from 7am to 10pm as polling stations for people to make their mark.

Nationally, no one can predict which way the vote will go – and Enfield is no different.

Prime Minister David Cameron has described the decision as bigger than any election. He said it would have consequences for decades and warned: "There's probably no turning back."

The final nationwide result will be announced in Manchester Town Hall on Friday morning. The Advertiser will be reporting live through the night on the count as it happens at the Lee Valley Athletics Centre, in Meridian Way, Edmonton.

The Enfield results are predicted to be in by 3am.

Showtime: Fleecefield Primary School in Edmonton was the winner of last year's Glee project

West End awaits Glee-ful youngsters

ALL-SINGING and all-dancing pupils are eagerly polishing their acts before they take to the West End in a battle to be crowned the borough's top performers.

Edmonton Glee will see 18 schools performing at the Piccadilly Theatre – home of the Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons musical Jersey Boys.

Not only do the lucky youngsters perform in the West End, they also do so in front of talent scouts who have promised scholarships to the Pineapple Dance Studios, in Covent Garden, to children who "show promise".

The competition was organised by the Edmonton Schools Partnership, which works together to raise aspirations and provide opportunities for children in the area and commissioned Pineapple Performing Arts to deliver weekly Glee clubs, inspired by the music and singing from the American hit TV series Glee.

The mayor of Enfield Bernadette Lappage has pledged to support music and the arts in the borough during her year in charge and has given Edmonton Glee her full backing.

She said: "Performing at the Piccadilly Theatre will give children a unique and magical experience which is truly inspirational. It is about making sure all the children in the borough have access to music because it's a vitally important part of cultural life and education which can make a tremendous contribution to society."

After preliminary rounds were held at Millfield Theatre, in Edmonton, in front of a panel of judges, including West End performers, the best groups, made up of pupils aged six to 12, were chosen for the final.

The finalists include reigning champions Fleecefield Primary, as well as Brettenham, Raynham, Eldon Primary (Infants and Juniors), Cuckoo Hall Academy, Woodpecker Hall Primary Academy, Starks Field, West Lea, Oakthorpe, St Edmund's Catholic Primary, St John & St James Church of England Primary, Wilbury, Hazelbury Infant, Hazelbury Junior, Galliard, Nightingale Academy and Edmonton County School.

The winning school will get free workshops at the Pineapple Dance Studios.

The after-school sessions included singing, dancing, drama, songwriting and choreography.

Antoinette Goldwater, headteacher of Fleecefield, in Brettenham Road, said: "This is a great project that the children thoroughly enjoy and which gives them tremendous opportunities to showcase their talent. The atmosphere in the theatre where the finals take place is electric, the parents are fantastically supportive and the buzz we had around the school after we won last year was just brilliant."

Dragons' food for thought

WITH the auditorium lights dimmed and a panel of "dragons" hanging off their every word, children from eight schools pitched their home-made snacks in a bid to be crowned top health food entrepreneur.

The Edmonton pupils, in Years 5 and 6, took part in a competition to see who could create the best snack or smoothie, package it, market it and then sell it.

Then they battled it out on Thursday in front of a panel of judges at Millfield Theatre, regaling them with tales of profit and loss, market research and hours of product development, before serving up their snacks and drinks for a taste test.

In a bid to tackle the scourge of childhood obesity, which is particularly endemic in the east of the borough, the Edmonton Schools Partnership set up a ten-week course to be taught in schools educating pupils about healthy cooking.

Partnership manager Renee Flourentzou said: "We get great reviews from our schools. The children and teachers enjoy taking part in such a fun initiative. It's a great way to learn about healthy cooking and business at the same time."

The judges – TV presenter

Helpful advice: Tonia Buxton with children from Fleecefield Primary School and health food guru Tonia Buxton, Emma Rigby, the managing director of web start-up Love Your Doorstep, and the Advertiser's Maureen Jay – were "virtually unanimous" in their decision to award first prize to St John & St James' Church of England Primary, in Grove Street, for their tasty Tropical Spice bar.

Maureen added: "I was totally blown away by the children, the quality of their products, their presentation skills, and their confidence. It was wonderful."

The two runners-up were Woodpecker Hall Primary Academy, Nightingale Road, for their Tropical Havana drink and Wilbury Primary, Wilbury Way, for their Smooth Smashing smoothie.

Fiat Punto helps trio to fulfil a driving ambition

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A TRIO of pals have raised £1,300 to pay for a friend's cancer treatment by driving 1,600 miles in a Gumball-style rally from Coventry to Spain in an old jalopy.

The group teamed up as the Dukes of Enfield to join the four-day Benidorm or Bust rally.

Motorists have to complete the challenge in a car worth less than £200.

Team leader Giuseppe Amorosi, who is a self-employed mechanic, said that the 14-year-old bright orange Fiat Punto lasted despite challenging driving conditions.

"The car is on its last legs," said 22-year-old Giuseppe, of Ordnance Road, Enfield Lock.

"We each drove 200 miles a day. We took my first car and it can do 70 to 75 miles per hour tops, so it was a bit tiring."

"The Pyrenees mountains were a bit challenging as the car was only doing 50 miles per hour, but the car did it, no problem. The views were unforgettable."

"It was fun. We were a little bit scared that the car would break down a few times, but it was fine," he added.

His mates Peter "PJ" Tynan and Sam Barnes, both 23, of Aylands Road,

Freezywater, also dressed up as characters from the popular TV series the Dukes of Hazzard. Prizes were on offer for the best costumes in the rally.

Sam took on the role of Daisy Duke, PJ was a cowboy and Giuseppe donned dungarees as Jesse Duke.

They stayed overnight in hotels and picked up food on the road. The first leg of the trip took them to Rouen, France, before they headed to Clermont Ferrand, then to Lloret del Mar, in Spain, before arriving in Benidorm.

The friends raised money to help a friend, Enfield woman Bukurie Perlesha, pay for cancer treatment in America.

Robot is drafted in to back up council staff

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

MEET Amelia – Enfield Council's latest recruit – and the first robot to be employed by local government.

Developed by IPsoft, the smiling tech servant will be filling a post in a bid to improve the council's often berated customer service department, by answering routine questions and leaving the "more complex" queries to the humans.

Enfield residents who need help with a planning application or securing a school place will be able to ask Amelia via live chat through the website 24 hours a day and seven days a week.

Her mouth will move and she will "speak", helping residents locate information and complete applications as well as simplify some of the council's internal processes, at the touch of a button.

The pioneering robot can also "interpret emotion and react appropriately in terms of dialect and facial expressions".

Amelia is said to be 60 per cent cheaper than using a human worker, although the council would not divulge how much has been paid for the software.

And at a time when the local authority is facing budget cuts of £56million over the next four years, it will be hoping she can save them money.

Frank Lansink, from IPsoft, said: "Capable of analysing natural language,

Working for Enfield Council: Robot Amelia

she understands context, applies logic, learns, resolves problems and even senses emotions."

If Amelia – named after American aviator Amelia Earhart – cannot answer a question, she calls in a human colleague and learns from them.

IPsoft and the council both stressed that the programme would complement existing services and not put jobs at risk. James Rolfe, Enfield's director of Finance, resources and customer services, said: "Our approach to transformation embraces digital technology to find completely new ways of supporting residents, in turn freeing up valuable resources for reinvestment in front-line services."

The move has been greeted with scepticism, however, from Terry Neville, leader of the council's Conservative group.

He said: "Instead of properly planning how to provide the customer service that people expect, this council is jumping on whatever fad it can to gain a headline and try to distract residents from the poor service they are receiving."

"Across the business world companies are recognising that what people want is human interaction, though of course in Enfield most people hang up rather than wait half an hour to speak to someone in our call centres."

"Major IT projects have a history of not working and I have no confidence in this council being able to deliver this in a way that provides a service residents want."

Mr Neville complained that councillors were unaware the high-tech system was being purchased, but a council spokesman said the decision was taken by officers under delegated powers and both Conservative and Labour politicians would have been able to see the summary of decisions in the delegated report of May 27 which was distributed to them.

Volunteers clear the way for hospital's new gardens

VOLUNTEERS have helped clear a hospital garden before it gets a makeover to help patients on the road to recovery.

The team of helpers from supermarket firm Tesco cleared paving and plants outside Highlands Wing at Chase Farm Hospital before work on the £120,000 new replacement gets under way.

The space at the hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, is being transformed into gardens designed to help patients with dementia and for those recovering from a stroke or brain injury.

The dementia garden will include a street with shop fronts and Victorian street lamps designed to help jog memories and provide a stimulating environment for patients.

A Japanese garden is being designed to create a tranquil space where stroke patients can mix and enjoy rehabilitation, walking on different surfaces including grass as they recover their strength. The plans, which also include produce in raised beds designed to be easily accessible and a bridge and greenhouses, have been drawn up with input from physiotherapists and other hospital staff.

The Chase Farm Charity has raised £90,000 towards the cost of creating the new gardens.

Staff and store managers from Tesco stores in Enfield and Barnet and Tesco head office in Cheshunt spent a week carefully removing the plants and block paving, which are being sold by the charity.

Colleagues from other stores travelled from as far afield as Birmingham and Norwich to get involved in the project.

The supermarket's Enfield community champion Marcie Thomas said: "It felt great getting the team out to work together in a non-work environment. This is a fantastic cause and we're really pleased to have made a difference."

Most at risk: A total of 5,485 renters in Enfield are in danger of losing their homes, according to homeless charity Shelter

Borough is top of evictions league

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

RENTERS in Enfield are at the most risk of losing their home as they struggle to cope with payments, according to a housing charity.

Shelter says that one in 23 tenants in Enfield is facing the possibility of eviction from their rented property.

The charity identified "home threat hotspots" across England where people faced the greatest risk of losing their home last year.

It blamed problems on a "chronic shortage of affordable homes combined with crippling welfare cuts".

Enfield topped the list, with 5,485 renters in jeopardy of losing their home.

London boroughs accounted for 16 of the top 20 areas at risk. The charity's number crunchers compared Ministry of Justice figures for the total of possession claims issued in the past 12 months in Enfield with the total number of renting households in 2,314 properties.

Along with London boroughs, renters in Thurrock, in Essex, Halton, in Cheshire and Peterborough, in Cambridgeshire, were also at high risk of eviction, the charity found.

Across England it said 350,000 people had been at risk of being evicted last year – more than the population of Leicester. Ahmet Oykener, Enfield Council's cabinet member for housing, said the borough had worked with Housing Gateway to buy homes and save costs on temporary accommodation.

He said: "The reality is that in recent years the demand for housing in Enfield has sky-rocketed and simultaneously we have found other London boroughs placing families in temporary accommodation in Enfield because it is cheaper than in their own borough."

Shelter's helpline adviser Nadeem Khan said: "Every day we hear from people who are struggling to keep up with their rent, many in total desperation after the court papers land on their doormat and the threat of being evicted becomes very real."

He said it was natural for residents to feel overwhelmed if they are facing eviction and advised people to get expert advice early if they are struggling to make ends meet.

They should make paying their rent their number one priority and respond to letters and phone calls, rather than putting their head in the sand.

Residents should also have a rainy financial day plan to tide them over if they lose their job or become ill – but they should avoid costly payday loans.

Shelter's free helpline is on 0800 800 4444.

MP welcomes knife crime crackdown

DAVID Burrowes has welcomed a week-long operation launched by Scotland Yard to tackle knife crime with stop and searches and weapon sweeps targeted in hotspot locations.

The Enfield Southgate MP, who is a staunch campaigner for tougher sentences for knife-related crime, said: "Knife crime is a cancer on our streets that needs to be rooted out before it takes more young lives."

"However, as much as I support and have campaigned for more robust policing and sentences for knife crime, I recognise that we can't arrest our way out of the problem."

"We need to support more preventative work with families and schools to change a youth culture which thinks it is safe to carry a knife."

The Met Police blitz began on Monday and runs until Sunday and includes operations against gang members, weapon sweeps and intelligence-led stop and search, as well as tackling those wanted in connection with knife-related offences and violent crime.

Police are visiting shops with trading standards officers to test if knives are being sold to under-18s and working with charity Words 4 Weapons, which has knife surrender bins.

Edmonton Methodist Church, in Fore Street, has the only one in the borough.

Operation Sceptre is the fifth week-long blitz on knives in the past 12 months.

A police spokesman said: "The number of young people injured by knives was up by 22 per cent in June 2015, but has been steadily

Cut it out: The knife surrender bin decreasing, with 37 fewer victims compared with the previous 12 months.

"During previous Sceptre weeks of action, more than 3,700 weapon sweeps have been conducted, more than 800 weapons have been recovered, hundreds of shops have been visited with trading standards teams to test whether knives are being sold to those aged under 18."

"So far more than 1,500 people have been arrested, including 243 for possessing a knife or offensive weapon."

There have also been educational presentations to young people in schools in a bid to make them think about the decisions they make, the consequences of their actions and to deter them from joining gangs and getting into a life of crime.

Anyone with information about anyone carrying or using knives should call police or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. "Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle."

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and manager Richard Power agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise."

Columnist

Lou Stein

Chickenshed Theatre

I AM delighted to introduce myself as the contributor to the new Lou Stein column, taking over from Jo Collins, the music director and co-founder of Chickenshed.

I took up the fabulous post of artistic director in April and already feel that I have been here forever. I had been coming to Chickenshed for five years to bring my son, Ethan, now nine, to children's theatre workshops.

I was born in Brooklyn, New York City, trained at Northwestern University, University of Iowa, and then with the BBC. I have been a freelance with my own company since 2000, was previously the artistic director at Watford Palace theatre and am the founder and former director of The Gate Theatre, in Notting Hill, in west London.

I want Chickenshed to be recognised as a confident, highly skilled, professional company staging unmissable work. Our roots are in the boroughs of Enfield and Barnet and I can't wait to show you that we are your local theatre to be proud of. Summer has hardly arrived and we are preparing for our brand new Christmas show – Adventure to Oz. This is a special moment for me as it will be my first Christmas show at Chickenshed as artistic director.

Drawn from the wonderful Land of Oz stories which L. Frank Baum created, you will meet familiar characters such as Dorothy, Toto, the Scarecrow, the Tinman and the Wizard himself. Pop in and meet me – I could be in the process of creating theatre to entertain, inspire and maybe sometimes challenge you, but I will be thrilled to welcome you.

Adventure to Oz runs from November 23 to January 7. Tickets are from £5 to £22.50.

Tastier way to take up the fight against breast cancer

I AM delighted to be supporting Breast Cancer Care's Strawberry Tea campaign once again and I encourage all your readers to join me and lend their support this summer, too.

Whether your strawberry tea is an intimate gathering for you and a few friends in the garden, a big family tea party or even a strawberry bake sale at your work, it's a lovely way to show you care.

Strawberries are so juicy, fragrant and delicious and there are just so many fabulous treats you can bake to raise funds.

Some of my own favourites include strawberry shortcakes and my beautiful strawberry meringue layer cake – a couple of ideas just to get you started.

Sadly, many of us know someone who has been affected by breast cancer. In fact, one in eight women in the UK will develop the disease – but, with your help, the charity can continue to provide free vital support for women living with the disease.

If you enjoy baking, too, please get involved this summer and show your support for such a vital cause by signing up for a free fundraising kit at www.breastcancercare.org.uk/strawberry

This policy of neglect is entirely deliberate

THE tragedy of North Middlesex A & E has been building, with an air of inevitability, for several years.

Of course, it is a direct result of the closure of Chase Farm's A & E (and maternity services) without adequate upgrades to North Midd, but we need to look closer than that.

The Blair government reintroduced the profit motive into the NHS, while the spectacularly disastrous PFI partnerships ensured that that profit would not be coming to our hospitals.

Then George Osborne turned up with his economically illiterate austerity policies.

The NHS has for years been starved of funds, partly because that's all part of austerity and partly so that in due course Mr Osborne (or his successor) can say: "Oh, look, it's not working – better privatise it".

Breakdowns within the NHS are not only inevitable – they are intentional.

It is North Midd's bad luck to be one of the first dominoes to fall.

A consequence of Tory cuts

IT'S a bit rich for the Tories to be criticising Enfield Council for ceasing the free summer swimming days for children.

I think the council should be applauded for keeping the scheme running for the past six years by funding it locally, especially when it was one of the first things the Conservative/Lib Dem coalition cut back in 2010.

Under the growing pressure of making the cuts brought on by this Tory government, this council has had to make some serious decisions on how to best spend the little money it will have. Unfortunately, some difficult choices have to be made and there is always a group that will be affected.

I'm sure this council takes the health of our young people seriously and have looked at all alternatives before making this decision. I find it incredible that this Tory opposition in Enfield continue to criticise the council for having to respond to the overwhelming cuts made by their government.

I'm fortunate. I have been at some of these meetings and can tell you how depressing it is to see people who really care about keeping our borough one to be proud of having to decide which projects or organisations will continue to be funded and how that decision affects them.

I can assure you they do not make these decisions lightly.

Slow broadband is unacceptable

A SURVEY has revealed that a sixth of Londoners are unhappy with their broadband speed.

The same research by YouGov tells us only two thirds of us rate our service as "good" and only a third of broadband providers in London are ready to meet future broadband needs.

Another survey by tech website Thinkbroadband claims that the UK has hit its target of making a super broadband connection available to 90 per cent of homes, as promised back in 2010. It also shows that of more than 400 local authorities across the UK, five – including the City of London – offer superfast coverage to less than half their homes.

Unfortunately, when I raise this issue – and that of poor mobile phone connectivity – broadband providers, tech companies, national government, town halls, regulators all tend to blame each other.

Yet, the same problems have quite clearly been overcome in dozens of other cities around the world.

London, the greatest city in the world, deserves better.

Leader of the European Conservatives and Reformists Group

Library should stay where it is

LABOUR-run Haringey Council is looking to move Muswell Hill Library out of its historic home. It has launched a consultation which gives only two options to residents – move the library to a space in the Green Man development, or leave it in the current location, with no improvements.

The Lib Dems have argued that the council should invest money in the current library building, to improve it and make it more accessible by installing a lift. We believe, as do the Friends of Muswell Hill Library, that a third option, to improve the current library, should be considered in the consultation, too.

I urge residents to respond to the consultation to keep the library at its current site and ask for this third option to be considered.

Respond to the consultation by visiting www.haringey.gov.uk/libraries-sport-and-leisure/libraries/find-library/muswell-hill-library/muswell-hill-library-public-engagement

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Tony's 90 not out and still having a ball on court

Many happy returns: Tony Garfield has been playing at Southgate Squash & Racketball Club for more than 45 years and marked his 90th birthday on court with four of the club's junior members, James Carman, Abi Wilkinson, Yan Manning and Alex Wilkinson

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

THE longest-serving member of a sports club has celebrated his 90th birthday on the racketball court.

Tony Garfield has been a member of the Southgate Squash & Racketball Club since its early days in 1967 when there were just two courts.

He was already a squash player when he joined the club, in Waterfall Road, and has since played thousands of matches before graduating to play racketball as he got older.

Racketball uses a larger ball than squash and rallies tend to be longer. It is played on the same court as squash.

Mr Garfield is the oldest member of the club, which now has six courts which are used throughout the year.

Since he joined the club, it has grown and the number of members has increased.

Mr Garfield has served on the club's committee and helped coach other players.

He plays most weeks and said: "I still enjoy playing, although all my opponents are much younger than me these days."

He was joined on court for his 90th birthday celebrations by four junior club members – James Carman, Abi Wilkinson, Yan

Manning and Alex Wilkinson, all of whom play for Middlesex.

The club also holds regular coaching sessions to encourage the next generation of players to follow in Mr Garfield's footsteps. New players are always welcome and should contact 020 8886 8381 for more details. The Walker Ground, where the club is located, is also famed for its annual fireworks display, which is held on the Saturday nearest to November 5.

It's a family affair at Sally's kitchen

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

PEOPLE in need of practical support in getting their life back on track can drop into a new cafe launched by the Salvation Army in Edmonton.

Sally's Kitchen opened in Fore Street last Wednesday, offering visitors an oasis of calm to enjoy a snack or a cuppa and help with specific problems for those in crisis.

Salvation Army lieutenants Dawn and Glenn Roden have set up the cafe a year after they took up their posts in Edmonton.

The couple were ordained as ministers last year after moving to London for training.

Dawn has experience of assessing people with mental health problems while 43-year-old Glenn has a background in engineering.

They have worked with church members to create what they hope will be a safe and inviting spot for people to tuck into refreshments and meet new friends.

Also on the menu is the chance to get pastoral support and practical assistance.

The cafe will be open on Wednesdays between 10.30am

Cafe culture: Glenn and Dawn Roden, with their son Ben and 2.30pm. The church is also open every day except Thursday for people to drop in and chat to someone about any issues they are facing.

There are also plans to start a parent and toddler group in September.

Glenn said: "I'd lived in Dudley all my life, so moving to London was a massive change for me. The Salvation Army provided a warm welcome to our family and it has done this for people from all walks of life for more than 150 years.

"We're looking forward to offering that same welcome to others," he added.

Putting the finishing touches to the cafe, Dawn, 49, said: "Our doors are open six days a week, so we can really get to know our community and find out how best we can support them."

"We've already started getting to know people, but it would be great to see even more people as we launch Sally's Kitchen. There's a bus stop right outside our hall, so it's easy to find us on the bus routes."

Prison van break-out bid: four jailed

FOUR men who took part in a plot to spring a dangerous criminal from a prison van were jailed for a total of more than 30 years on Monday.

They were part of a five-strong team – one of them from Enfield – which Izzet Eren assembled to ambush the van taking him from Wormwood Scrubs prison to Wood Green Crown Court, where he was being sentenced on firearms-related charges on December 11 last year.

But police had been tipped off. As armed officers swooped on vehicles containing gang members parked up close to the court, one of them, Jermaine Baker, 28, from Tottenham, was shot dead.

His death is the subject of an investigation by the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

At Woolwich Crown Court on Monday, Izzet Eren's cousin, Ozcran Eren, 32, of Douglas Road, Wood Green, was jailed for eight-and-a-half years after pleading guilty to conspiring in the escape plot and possession of an imitation firearm. Izzet Eren, 32, also received an eight-and-a-half-year prison sentence, having pleaded guilty to the same charges.

He is already serving 14 years for unrelated firearms offences handed to him on the day the plot to spring him failed.

The other co-conspirators in the plot – Nathan Mason, 30, of South Tottenham, and Gokay Sogucakli, 19, from Tottenham, were sentenced to nine years and five-and-a-half years respectively after pleading guilty to conspiracy and possession of an imitation firearm.

The fifth member of the gang,

Eren Hayser, 25, of Kettering Road, Enfield Wash, who was convicted last month after denying conspiracy and firearms charges, will be sentenced at a later date.

Detective Chief Superintendent Tom Manson, from the Met Police's Serious and Organised Crime Command, said: "The sentencing reflects the gravity of this bold and audacious plot."

"These five men conspired to carry out a professional and well-planned break-out from a prison transport van so a dangerous convicted criminal could escape a lengthy prison sentence."

MAYOR OF LONDON

Standing united: The rainbow flag was flown outside Enfield Civic Centre

Standing up to be counted

By Clare Casey

news.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

A LEADING figure in Enfield's lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) community has paid tribute to those killed and injured in the mass shooting at a gay nightclub in Florida.

Tim Fellows said that his "deepest sympathies" were with the victims and their families. Forty-nine people died at the hands of a suspected terrorist who opened fire inside the Pulse club, in Orlando, on Sunday last week.

Mr Fellows is the chief executive officer of Enfield LGBT Network, a consortium of organisations and individuals who work to improve services and support within the borough's gay community.

Speaking from its Lancaster Road headquarters, he said: "It's an absolute tragedy and our sympathies go out to those victims and their families and friends."

"The problem now is that this atrocity is being hijacked by other groups, it's not about immigration, or gun lobby groups, it's about a shooting in a gay club – the killing of a marginalised group."

"It's very easy to think that equality has arrived, but there are still pockets of hatred out there."

Elsewhere in the borough, Enfield Council showed its support by flying the rainbow flag, synonymous with gay pride, from the civic centre, in Silver Street, Enfield Town.

Yasemin Brett, cabinet member for community, arts and culture, said: "The Mayor of Enfield and I, on behalf of councillors, officers and residents of Enfield wish to express our sincere condolences to all the victims of the Florida atrocity and their families and extend our heartfelt sympathies to the dead and injured."

"This cowardly attack targeted people's freedom, the freedom to choose one's sexual orientation and the freedom to determine one's way of life."

"Terrorism of any sort is completely unjustified and the council utterly condemns it and all crimes of violence."

"We will be flying the rainbow flag at Enfield Civic Centre as a mark of respect and solidarity for the victims of this appalling crime."

Condolences: Yasemin Brett, Enfield Council's cabinet member for community, arts and culture

Looking to the future: Campaigners have unveiled their plans for a museum on the ground floor and basement of Trent Park's historic mansion house

Museum 'needs the whole ground floor'

Trent Park mansion campaigners make their case

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

CAMPAIGNERS have unveiled their vision for a museum in the ground floor and basement of a historic mansion to be turned into a museum displaying the story it played in wartime intelligence.

Property developers Berkeley

Homes are keen to "deliver a unique museum experience" at the mansion – but the Save Trent Park group is calling on them to offer more space than they are currently offering.

Covert listening devices were used to eavesdrop on German prisoners of war during World War II at the mansion off Cockfosters Road in one of the conflict's best-kept secret operations.

It is thought that Hitler's deputy Rudolph Hess was held there temporarily after he was captured on a peace mission in 1941. However, the government has ruled against releasing documents which could settle the mystery.

The mansion was sold by Middlesex University to a Malaysian university in 2012 and remained empty until it was bought by Berkeley Homes last year.

The company said it plans to offer space for a museum and managing director Piers Clanford said he wanted a museum "which is high quality, viable and sustainable in the long term".

More than 350 people attended a public meeting held by the Save Trent Park campaign last Thursday.

They unveiled their plans for a museum to reveal the mansion's wartime secrets as well as its history as a country mansion where Charlie Chaplin, Lawrence of Arabia and Edward VIII were entertained.

Historian Dr Helen Fry said: "We must give Trent Park the full space that it needs to honour and tell the story of the war-winning intelligence that happened here during World War II."

"To do that we are campaigning for half the stable block, the whole of the ground floor and basement of the mansion house as an absolute minimum."

Iain Standen, the boss of the wartime code-breaking centre Bletchley Park, said a museum was "a great project, and it can be delivered".

One of the last remaining wartime "secret listeners", Fritz Lustig, said: "I consider it of the utmost importance that the intelligence work that was done at Trent Park during the war is not forgotten and a museum should be established."

Campaign supporters include actor and TV star Sir David Jason, who was born in Edmonton and is a history enthusiast.

Shop owner is fined for pavement display

A SUPERMARKET owner who repeatedly broke the law by displaying fruit and veg outside his shop has been fined.

The owner of Elif Food Centre, in Palmers Green, ignored Enfield Council's warnings not to place pallets on the street without a licence and was prosecuted at Tottenham Magistrates' Court.

Koray Limited, the owners of the Elif Food Centre, and director Kemal Koca, 35, of Waltham Abbey, Essex, were found guilty and ordered to pay £3,671. They were fined £200 for each of the five breaches of the law and ordered to pay a £20 victim surcharge, plus £1,325 costs for Mr Koca and £1,326 costs for the company.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "Boxes and racks on the pavement can be hazardous for people in wheelchairs or pushing buggies."

"They can be a tripping hazard and will not be tolerated. Anyone blocking the pavement like this will be prosecuted."

"The council will act firmly against any business which flouts the law, including those who believe that the pavement is part of their premises and who put their wares out on the street without a street trading licence."

Magistrates heard that in July last year an environmental crime officer from the local authority visited the supermarket and saw that wooden racks had been placed on the pavement outside the shop displaying fruit and veg. Staff were warned that enforcement action would be taken by the council if the goods were not removed.

A month later an officer visited the Elif Food Centre again and took a photograph showing that the goods and racks remained on the public highway and, despite fixed penalty notices costing £150 being issued on August 5, the racks were still there when officers returned on August 25, September 15 and October 20.

Modern classics help choir get in tune with the times

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A PIONEERING new Enfield choir has something to sing about after breaking the mould with its modern approach.

Fledgling RVoices has only been in existence four months, but a determination to spurn the old-fashioned, strait-laced traditional image of choirs has reaped rewards.

It really is a case of Roll over Beethoven with the choir's repertoire featuring songs by David Bowie, Amy Whitehouse, Justin Timberlake, The Supremes, Chaka Khan and other contemporary artists, with not a classical composition or hymn to be heard.

Musician, songwriter, voice coach and Enfield resident Richard Forbes decided to form RVoices because he thought the borough was short of recreational and social activities for residents to do in the evenings.

Although there were choirs, he sensed a reluctance on behalf of people to join them – even those who enjoyed singing.

"Many people have the impression they are old-fashioned," he explained. "There is a stigma attached to them owed in part to perception and their experience of choirs at school or church."

"I wanted to change people's views and popularise community singing as celebrity choirmaster Gareth Malone has done with his TV programmes.

"And there is nobody, whatever anyone tells you, who can't sing. Those who say I'm tone deaf and can't hold a tune are wrong. You can always improve and it's about enjoying singing as an ensemble."

In good voice: RVoices take a break from rehearsals

Richard, 38, is a graduate of the Musicians Institute. He has written and performed with top artists of the calibre of Sam Smith and Paloma Faith, has been involved with West End musicals and has even written the score for the BAFTA-winning independent film Convenience.

He started the choir in a room above The Kings Head pub, in The Green, Winchmore Hill where it meets every Thursday night from 7.30pm to 9pm.

By word of mouth and through social media, it now has 44 members aged 18 to 71 with upcoming performances at the Friends of Firs Farm event and the Livestock Music Festival.

Its success has led to a second night at the pub to accommodate new members – on Tuesdays from 8.30pm to 10pm.

"Singing has been proven to be beneficial to people's well-being and what better way to de-stress and forget about the trials and tribulations of your working day than to enjoy the pleasure of singing in pleasant surrounding with convivial company to socialise and have a glass of wine or beer with at the end of the evening," added Richard.

For further information about the choir, go to Rvoiceschoir@gmail.com

Stunned MPs pay tribute to Jo Cox

POLITICIANS have united in paying tribute to MP Jo Cox after her brutal killing.

The MP for Batley and Spen, in Yorkshire, was shot and stabbed in a shocking attack in the village of Birstall last Thursday.

Thomas Mair, 52, who has been charged with her murder, was remanded in custody at the Old Bailey on Monday until a further court appearance tomorrow.

Enfield North Labour MP Joan Ryan said: "Jo was a wonderful human being – passionate, clever and caring. She was a brilliant MP and above all else a wife and mother."

The Conservative MP for Enfield Southgate David Burrows took part with Mrs Cox in the annual Lords v Commons tug of war competition earlier this month raising £113,000 for Macmillan Cancer Support.

He said her death was a "sickening blow, primarily for Jo's family", adding: "It's shaken us all to the core."

He had worked with Mrs Cox over their shared concern about refugees and said her death must not put people off getting involved in politics.

"We have the most accessible democracy, it must continue," he said. "One of her legacies must be to get more women and more people into public life."

He has looked at security, especially for his staff, to ensure business can carry on as normal.

At Enfield Civic Centre, in Silver Street, flags are flying at half mast in tribute to the MP, who was attacked as she prepared for a constituency surgery.

Yasemin Brett, Enfield Council's cabinet member for arts and culture, said: "We must not allow her death to put barriers between voters and politicians."

She added that the council took the safety and security of staff and councillors very seriously and carries out risk assessments of places where they meet the public to minimise safety risks.

EDUCATION FOR LIFE

End of Term reports from some of the area's top local education establishments...

Vita Et Pax Preparatory School
6A Priory Close, Green Road
Southgate, London N14 4AT
www.vitaetpax.co.uk
info@vitaetpax.co.uk

Vita et Pax Preparatory School in Southgate is delighted to announce that the School is now in its successful 80th birthday year. Our foundation took place in 1936 when Benedictine nuns from Belgium set up a small teaching group in Oakwood. Later, as numbers grew, this modest beginning was consolidated into a School occupying 2 large houses. Our present site has been occupied from the 1960s to the present; the nuns finally retiring to Turvey Abbey in the 1980s, leaving this Catholic foundation in the care of its first lay headmistress, Mrs Stacey.

Vita et Pax is a Catholic School which admits pupils of all faiths. Our pupils, who are from a variety of different Christian and other faith traditions, are all valued and respected. The programme for Religious Education is 'The Way, the Truth and the Life', which helps all the children understand Christian traditions and those of other major faiths, through a creatively linked curriculum.

The School strives to provide a warm and homely community, in which everyone is valued as an individual. It is our aim that all children should be hard working, well mannered, articulate, confident and ready to meet the challenge of being good citizens in the future.

Vita et Pax's School song is enjoyed by our pupils from Nursery through to Year 6, and they are encouraged to live by this ethos.

*You are my brother, you are my friend
You are my sister, our love should never end.
Whatever colour our skin or our hair,
Let us live together, this is our prayer.*

We regularly hold Open Mornings so that you can see the School at work. Please contact the School Secretary for further information.

KEBLE PREP

At Keble Prep every individual counts

Our compact site helps in this regard, with individuals getting to know each other as their paths cross many times each day. Visitors will often comment on the 'birds-like' nature of our school, from Wades Hill one would not imagine the space we enjoy and most importantly the playground areas for boys to run around, let off steam and build friendships. This, coupled with a positive building development programme gives an ideal place for the boys to learn and develop.

The way that we manage our curriculum also puts the individual at the heart of things. Smaller class sizes on average than many comparable schools further help our academic staff really understand what makes each boy tick and build learning around that knowledge. In addition our ethos encourages independence (as evidenced in our last ISI inspection report), and values decency and courtesy. These, coupled with high expectations in terms of diligence and behaviour, mean that Keble Prep is a school where each boy makes strong progress and where results in later years belie the non-selective nature of the admissions process at Reception.

Every boy is both challenged and encouraged to make the most of his talents wherever they may be found. For some it is on the sports field, for others the concert stage or exam hall. However they are reached, they will be recognised and celebrated because for us every one counts.

Grange Park Prep School is a happy and successful school that provides a stimulating educational experience for girls between the ages of 3-11.

Each child is known individually by all staff and a strong parent/school partnership ensures a thriving and proactive environment which is evident from Nursery onwards. Children joining the school engage in a stimulating curriculum with subjects enhanced by the inclusion of art, dance and drama, music, French and PE with dedicated teaching specialists.

In Key Stage 2 preparation for 11+ state selective and independent secondary schools starts from as early as Year 3, where girls undertake verbal and non-verbal reasoning as part of the curriculum. In addition, in Year 5, girls wishing to sit for selective schools attend extra prep classes, thus equipping them with the tools to achieve their maximum potential in terms of academic achievement.

This year we are proud to announce our Year 6 girls did extremely well in the secondary school entrance exams, with some girls being awarded scholarships, and have been accepted at City of London for Girls, Dame Alice Owen's, Halesbury College, St Edmund's College and St Martha's Senior School.

Girls enjoy a very busy school life, and benefit from an excellent variety of extra curricular activities, including LAMDA, horse riding and chess, further enriching their experience and creating lifetime memories. Before leaving GPPS every girl will have been given a responsible role at some level, instilling in them a sense of duty and ingrained confidence, preparing them for today's challenges.

PALMERS GREEN
HIGH SCHOOL

"A friendly and academically successful school whose staff and pupils will leave with you a great impression"

The Good Schools Guide

As the quote from The Good Schools Guide indicates, at Palmers Green High School we work with our girls and their parents to help them achieve their full potential and nurture their individual talents. Girls may first join - often aged 3 in our Alice Nursery - and leave to join their chosen sixth form aged 16. In addition to excellent academic standards, parents choose PGHS because of its warm and friendly environment.

Ranked top of The Sunday Times league table for small schools for the sixth consecutive year, most recently with 77.2% of entries graded A*/A, congratulations go to all our girls and their teachers for their well-deserved success.

Former pupils enjoy coming back to share their news with recent leavers currently following Sixth Form courses at Woodhouse Sixth Form College, Latymer, Dame Alice Owen's, St Michael's, NLC, King's College Mathematical School and Downe House. Older leavers are enjoying their courses at university, including Oxford, UCL, King's London, Exeter, Nottingham and Leeds.

Opportunity for every pupil is key and there is plenty on offer in terms of extra curricular clubs, including the Duke of Edinburgh Award and educational visits and residential trips to support the curriculum.

If you would like to visit and have a personal tour of the school to find out whether your daughter would flourish in our family-like atmosphere, please contact us on 020 8886 1135.

What's on and what's coming

Love's young dream is coming to a wood near you (weather permitting)

By Dave Speck

dave.speck@nlhnews.co.uk

A CLEARING in a small leafy wood as the sun sets on a summer's evening is perhaps the ideal setting for a production of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream.

And that's precisely where the Garden Suburb Theatre's production will be taking place – in its own “magical” wood complete with seating for 120 people.

But one of the drawbacks is that the eight-night run (from July 1 to 9) will be very much dependent on the weather – and if it rains, the cast of 33, many of them children, will be left with “heavy hearts” and unable to perform due to safety reasons.

Director Steven Maddocks said there was an element of “theatre-meets-camping” in performing at Little Oak Wood, off Addison Way, Hampstead Garden Suburb.

He said: “Part of the appeal and joy of the space is that we're in the elements – and for a play which takes place in a wood, it's the perfect venue.”

Rehearsals are currently taking place three times a week with a cast aged from seven to 40-something and Steven admits it is a “huge logistical challenge” marshalling everyone involved (parents as well).

One of the things youngsters have been working on is projecting their voices because in the wood there are no walls for their voices to bounce off.

“You do get some motorbikes and sirens in the background, but the birdsong is the main thing we have to contend with, but that's a good thing because it adds to the atmosphere,” said Steven.

Midsummer madness: Cast members in the production's woodland setting

“In recent years I've performed in shows in the wood where we've had glorious weather for the whole run. I'm sure the show will be a success.”

Tickets for the amateur production, being staged to mark the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare's death, are said to be selling out fast. They cost £10 (£8 concessions) or £30 for a family ticket (for two adults and two children under 18). The performance will not run on Monday and Tuesday evening. Afternoon performances take place on weekends.

Aliens – this time it's personal

INDEPENDENCE DAY: RESURGENCE
(12A, 120 mins)

It has been 20 years since US President Thomas J Whitmore (Bill Pullman) issued his rallying cry to the human race and inspired a global air force including crack pilot Steven Hiller (Will Smith) to repel alien invaders intent on destroying earth.

Following the devastating showdown, the United Nations establishes a new early warning program named Earth Space Defense (ESD) under the direction of kooky scientist David Levinson (Jeff Goldblum), which should alert us to future incursions by hostile extra-terrestrials.

We also salvage the remains of the alien technology and adapt it to create a more advanced military.

However, we are blissfully unaware that the aliens from the initial attack sent a distress signal to the rest of their battalion before their defeat and a powerful second wave is poised to storm the planet.

Current President Elizabeth Lanford (Sela Ward) issues the battle cry and ace pilots take to the skies including Steven Hiller's stepson Dylan (Jessie Usher), former President Whitmore's daughter Patricia (Maika Monroe) and Jake Morrison (Liam Hemsworth), whose parents perished 20 years ago during the failed initial invasion.

THE SECRET LIFE OF PETS
(U, 91 mins)

CREATURES great and small wreak havoc on the streets of New York City in Chris Renaud and Yarrow Cheney's colourful computer-animated romp.

Pilot: Liam Hemsworth as Jake Morrison

Employing a similar framework to Toy Story, The Secret Life Of Pets imagines what our four-legged, feathered and finned friends get up to when our backs are turned, suggesting that the fun begins when we go to work or school.

A Jack Russell terrier and an affection-starved mongrel replace Woody and Buzz Lightyear as the feuding central characters, whose rivalry mellows into mutual affection when they are separated from their owner.

The central concept isn't original, but there's an infectious charm to every shiny frame of Renaud and Cheney's well-groomed picture, which mercilessly exploits our affection for the critters that share our homes.

Katie (voiced by Ellie Kemper) lives in her Manhattan apartment with a mischievous terrier named Max (Louis CK).

He is good friends with other domesticated animals and birds including a pampered Eskimo dog named Gidget (Jenny Slate), who is head over fluffy tail in love with Max, and a sardonic house cat named Chloe (Lake Bell), who nurtures a healthy disdain for anything that doesn't enrich her selfish existence.

Max's bond with Katie is threatened when his owner brings home a lolling mongrel named Duke (Eric Stonestreet), whom she has saved from the pound.

Intense rivalry spills out on to the city streets, where Max and Duke fall foul of a sphynx cat called Ozone (Steve Coogan) and are mistaken for strays by animal control officers.

The snarling enemies are rescued by a maniacal white rabbit named Snowball (Kevin Hart), who pressgangs them into service in his army of unwanted animals, living in the sewers.

The Secret Life Of Pets is the brainchild of the makers of Despicable Me and Minions and retains a similar visual style and family-friendly humour.

Behavioural tics of each breed are mercilessly exploited for slapstick laughs and co-directors Renaud and Cheney maintain a brisk trot to ensure young audiences don't go for walkies in the middle of the film.

New launch of idyllic town and country homes

Bournegate Court, the newest phase of L&Q's Bolingbroke Park development, went on sale on 21st May, offering idyllic homes for both first-time buyers and downsizers.

This collection of contemporary two- and three-bedroom apartments is located in Cockfosters, an area known for its vast open green space with the 413-acre Trent Park a short walk away. On the Piccadilly Line, it is also just half an hour into the centre of London, meaning that new homes at Bournegate Court offer buyers the perfect blend of town and countryside living.

Apartments at Bournegate Court are designed to make the best use of space and are arranged around an attractive and modern open-plan kitchen and living area. Each home features a spacious private balcony, while high-specification fixtures and fittings and en-suite master complete the bright and airy properties.

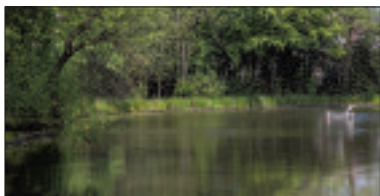

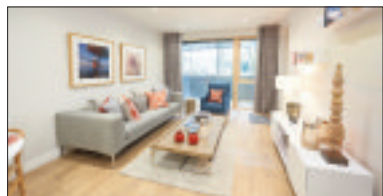

Properties at Bournegate Court start at £455,000 for a two-bedroom home, making this the ideal option for first-time buyers or downsizers who want to take advantage of good-value house prices in the area while maintaining close links to London. The development is under 10 minutes' walk to the Grade II-listed Cockfosters station at the start of the Piccadilly Line. This provides commuters with a quick and easy connection to major employment and transport hubs, as Kings Cross and Oxford Circus are both about half an hour away.

Meanwhile, the West End and the South Bank can be reached in around 40 minutes, bringing London's cultural attractions within easy reach. The development is also located just moments away from a thriving centre with a village feel: a range of independent shops and boutiques, including delicatessens and fishmongers, as well as traditional country pubs and the popular Chickenshed theatre.

Cathy Lloyd, L&Q's Sales and Marketing Director, said: "We are excited about the launch of our next phase at Bolingbroke Park. Bournegate Court offers contemporary apartments ideal for homeowners wanting to make their first step up on the property ladder as well as downsizers looking for a more manageable home. Bolingbroke Park's perfect location gives residents easy connections into the employment, cultural and retail hubs of London. Meanwhile, the countryside feel of the area means that residents have a perfect retreat from their busy city lives. Bolingbroke Park allows people to buy a home with a country feel, without needing to leave the city."

Prices at Bournegate Court start at £455,000 for a two-bedroom home with generous outdoor space.

Bolingbroke Park's Sales and Marketing Suite is located at Chase Side, Cockfosters EN4 8HT. For more information or to book an appointment visit www.bolingbrokepark.co.uk or call 0333 0033 637

XC90 – not just a pretty face

By Matt Kimberley

VOLVO'S XC90 has been around for a little over a year, but in that time, it's already secured a stack of awards and is proving hugely popular with buyers, too. It mixes sensible design with attractive looks and is even more spacious and practical than the old car.

But now the crowning glory of the XC90 range has arrived in the shape of the T8 model. Combining a 2.0-litre petrol engine that is both turbocharged and supercharged with an electric motor and battery pack makes the T8 a plug-in hybrid, and one that has the potential to deliver some impressive performance and economy figures.

Only the keenest of eyes will be able to distinguish the T8 from its conventional siblings. Chiefly, it is the discreet badges front and rear that are the most obvious changes, but also the additional filler flap on the front wing, which gives access to the charging connections. This car then doesn't make a fuss about its capabilities. It is as discreetly handsome as all the other XC90s you can buy.

That's no doubt part of the reason why it holds so much kerb appeal. Where much of the competition has decided that bold or even brash is the way to design a large SUV, the more subtle Volvo approach is welcome.

It's not just a pretty face, however, as the XC90 is even more of a family wagon than before. Up front there are acres of space, even with the wide transmission tunnel, the second row is comfortable and spacious, too, while the third row is one of the more useful in the class and is easy to access.

The boot is useful in seven-seat mode and huge in five-seat configuration and plumping for the air suspension means you can raise and lower the rear end for easier loading.

Once installed in that attractive cabin, there's little to tell you that the XC90 T8 has a significantly different powertrain. It has four modes to marshal what's available – hybrid, where the car sorts out the best use of energy for itself, pure, which uses electric only, power mode, where both petrol engine and electric motor work at the same time to give four-wheel-drive, and save, where the battery's charge is maintained until you choose to use it.

In hybrid mode, the petrol engine is dormant at low speeds and while the battery is charged, should you prod the accelerator hard enough, it chimes in seamlessly. As with a regular hybrid you can add charge back into the battery by careful use of the brakes, helping it to reach the claimed electric-only range of 27 miles.

On the flip side, in power mode the T8 is something of subtle rocket ship. There's 401bhp available with both engine and motor combined, enough to propel it to 62mph from rest in only 5.6 seconds. Using it this way means higher fuel consumption, of course, but the official NEDC combined figure of 134.5mpg and 49g/km of CO2 means it qualifies for the government grant.

There's no doubt the T8 is a relatively expensive car – £60,455 in Momentum guise as tested here – but if it suits the way you need to use your car, it also has the potential to be cheap to run. The specification is also quite lavish – satellite navigation on the nine-inch touchscreen, powered leather seats, aluminium trim, 19-inch alloy wheels and a power tailgate, to name just a few.

If you have almost any combination of children and adults, the XC90 T8 can cope, making it a superb family vehicle. On the other hand, if you have to commute into a city, having that saved electric mode is a handy bonus, especially as you can relax in the sumptuous cabin while you do it. It's a luxury car for sure, but one that justifies the expense.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1997, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'Tf' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be changed to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
  - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
  - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publisher's hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers: Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
- Holiday & Travel Category All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
- Data Protection The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or trading debtors.
- Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Capital Media Newspapers Ltd or carefully selected third parties. In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

We'll give you the best of both worlds - every week, all week!

POCHETTINO IS RARING TO GO

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR head coach Mauricio Pochettino is eagerly anticipating the start of the new season following the publication of the Premier League fixtures.

The full fixture list was unveiled on Thursday, and Spurs find themselves facing a tricky trip to Everton in the season opener on August 13.

Pochettino is well aware that Tottenham have been handed a difficult opening clash, but he is excited to get under way again as the side look to build on their third-placed finish of last time around.

"It's exciting to know the fixtures," Pochettino said. "It's a tough game to start with. Everton have a new manager in Ronald Koeman, who we know very well, and starting at Goodison Park will be difficult, just like it has been in the last two years.

"I remember my first game with Tottenham in the Premier League was at West Ham, then the second year was at Manchester United and now Goodison Park. It's never easy.

"But it's OK, we're excited and now we start to feel next season is coming. It's now about being ready to compete because it's always important to start well.

"We're in the middle of the summer and it's a moment to do our homework so we start pre-season clear with the squad and the players are focused on the start of the season. So it's important to work hard now, but exciting as well. This is our passion."

Spurs follow their opener with successive home games against Crystal Palace on August 20 and Liverpool on August 27 before visiting Stoke City on September 10 following an international break.

Spurs host Manchester City on October 1 (3pm) and welcome champions Leicester to White Hart Lane on October 29, before a tough run of fixtures in November begins with the first north London derby of the season at Arsenal on November 5 – followed by further derby clashes at home to West Ham United on November 19 and at Chelsea on November 26.

Boxing Day sees Tottenham going to Southampton, and they visit Watford on New Year's Eve before starting 2017 by hosting Chelsea on January 2.

A tough-looking run-in sees Spurs visiting Leicester on April 22, hosting Arsenal on April 29, visiting West Ham on May 6 and entertaining Manchester United in what is likely to be the last ever game at White Hart Lane on May 13, before rounding off their campaign at Hull City on May 21.

Meanwhile, Spurs are believed to be on the brink of securing their first signing of the summer, with reports claiming that Southampton midfielder Victor Wanyama has undergone a medical at the club.

Wanyama, who has been a target of Tottenham for some time, is expected to sign on a four-year deal for a fee in the region of £11million.

Although signing a striker to provide back-up for Harry Kane is thought to be Spurs' priority during the current transfer window, they are also looking to bolster their midfield ahead of their return to the Champions League.

Planning ahead: Mauricio Pochettino is looking forward to the new season beginning in August

Fast start sets Skolars up for victory

A STRONG start set the London Skolars on the way to a 22-6 victory at the South Wales Scorpions in rugby league's Kingstone Press Championship One on Sunday.

With heavy rain making life tough for the players, the hosts made a string of handling errors which the Skolars made the most of as they took control of the match.

It took the visitors just four minutes to break the deadlock as they worked their way up the field from a scrum and Alex Walker eventually dived over the line. Jy-Mel Coleman's conversion struck the post.

Four minutes later the Skolars struck again as Walker latched on to Joe Keyes' kick to grab his second try in quick succession. Coleman made no mistake with the conversion to extend their lead to 10-0.

A combination of good defensive work and some basic errors meant that there was no further addition to the score until the 33rd minute when the Skolars moved further clear –

Michael Sykes crossing the line under the posts to leave Coleman with a simple conversion.

But the hosts gave themselves a glimmer of hope by reducing their deficit four minutes before the interval when Jordan Sheridan touched down in the corner for a try which Paul Emanuelli converted.

A fiery start to the second half eventually saw the Scorpions have Connor Farrer sin-binned for fighting on 52 minutes, and Ryan Chester was held up over the line from the resulting penalty as the visitors looked to take advantage of their extra man.

The hosts survived unscathed though and went on to enjoy a spell of sustained pressure as they attempted to get back into the match.

However, the try would not come and the Skolars sealed their victory with ten minutes remaining – Sam Nash touching down in the corner against the run of play. Coleman's conversion wrapped up the scoring.

The Skolars host Doncaster on Saturday.

Hornsey get back on track in fine style

HORNSEY returned to winning ways in fine style as they enjoyed a crushing seven-wicket victory at home to Barnes in the second division of the Middlesex County Cricket League on Saturday.

The previous week had seen the side slump to a shock defeat at Acton to bring an end to their 100 per cent record, but Paul Weekes shone with both bat and ball as Hornsey proved far too strong for their visitors.

The veteran former Middlesex all-rounder firstly took 4-25 as Barnes could only make 118 batting first and then struck an unbeaten 62 when the hosts cruised to 120-3 in reply.

But there was frustration for Highgate as their Division Two match at home to Enfield was abandoned without a ball bowled following heavy overnight rain.

Meanwhile, North Middlesex ended up with a losing draw in a thrilling clash at home to Twickenham in the Premier Division.

Joel Hughes (7-62) produced a stunning display with the ball for the hosts as Twickenham posted a total of 199, with Carlos Nunes playing superbly to make 90 and David Russell chipping in with 42.

Joe Cracknell (55) led the way in North Middlesex's reply, but Dan Manuvelge (5-41) and Parminder Singh (4-49) worked their way through the batting to set up a dramatic finish which saw both teams come close to victory before the hosts eventually ended on 192-9.

Elsewhere, North London eased to a 46-run victory at Kenton which saw them climb up to fifth place in the Division Three table.

The hosts struggled to 162 all out after losing the toss, but this proved more than enough as Jordan Gregory (4-22) led the way in a terrific bowling display which saw Kenton dismissed for 116.

North Middlesex go to Ealing on Saturday, while Hornsey visit Finchley, Highgate host Brondesbury and North London entertain Uxbridge.

ENFIELD SHOULD LEAVE

ENFIELD SHOULD VOTE FOR A GLOBAL FUTURE

By The Enfield Should Vote to Leave the EU Campaign

41 years ago the British people voted in a Referendum to join a Common Market or free trade area with, we were told, no loss of Sovereignty. Since that time, we have been increasingly tied in to a political union, that no one wanted and no one voted for.

For clarification, you are voting to leave the EU, the political union, not Europe. There are 28 countries in the EU yet there are 50 countries in Europe, there are 195 countries in the world and the EU is only 7% of the world population. We will continue to trade with Europe, co-operate and be friendly with our fellow Europeans. On June 23rd you will finally have your chance to Remain or Leave; we at Enfield says Leave believe the case to LEAVE is overwhelming, and we present you with some of the reasons that we believe this to be so:

Economy:

- We originally voted to join a Common Market, not a Political Union, we will continue to trade with Europe after Brexit.
- The UK is the world's fifth largest economy, with the highest economic growth and lowest unemployment in the developed world.
- The EU is quite the opposite, with failing growth and the highest unemployment figures. The EU is a failing project, its share of the world economy has almost halved since 1980.
- We have a £62bn trade deficit with the EU, yet a £27bn trade surplus with the rest of the world. The EU accounted for 37% of world GDP when we joined, and will fall to 22% by 2025.
- We'll do even better outside the EU, which currently prevents the UK from making its own Free Trade Deals. The 161 countries of the World Trade Organisation (WTO) have grown their trade by 276% since 1995.
- Britain has a unique position in the world: Permanent UN Security Council member, member of G7, G10 and G20, a Commonwealth leader and an original member of NATO.
- Our future is bright outside the EU. We will be able to negotiate our own trade deals with the Commonwealth, China, India and the US and go from a consumer market of 500 million, to 6.5 billion.
- Switzerland, which has never been part of the EU has a per capita GDP five times greater than the UK.

Employment:

- The EU through uncontrolled borders allows companies to import cheap labour and force down local wages.
- In the last 3 years the UK has created more jobs than the rest of the EU put together.
- The UK was legislating for employee protection and anti-discrimination rights long before we joined the EEC/EU. There are literally hundreds of examples, including: Disabled Persons (Employment) Act 1958, Tribunals and Inquiries Act 1961, Chronically Sick and Disabled Persons Act 1970, Clean Air Act, Factories Act 1961, Trade Union Act 1964, Agricultural Wages Act 1948, Industry Act 1972, Equal Pay Act 1970, Sex Discrimination Act 1975, Race Relations Act 1965 and 1968. All of these were initiated by the UK government.
- Global Growth will see the creation of even more jobs, and not just low wage, zero hour contract ones.

Bureaucracy:

- The EU is inward looking, and protectionist, it has earned the reputation "Fortress Europe" as it attempts to protect its own inefficient and failing industries.
- The extent of the various types of EU laws and regulations which bind the UK, without our full and democratic involvement making a Grand Total of 112,800 - that's a lot of laws, regulations and standards.
- The EU bureaucracy adds £33.3 billion per year to our businesses and industries and prevents us from being competitive on the global stage.
- Even though only 5% of our business exports to the EU, all business are bound by EU rules and regulations.
- A good example of the damage done is the 'EU Clinical Trials Directive' which adds costs to cancer drugs that could be saving our lives. Trials that used to cost £200k now cost £2m. The EU is stunting innovation and making these drugs unaffordable within our NHS.

TTIP:

- The Transatlantic Trade & Investment Partnership (TTIP) will allow the EU to dictate the privatisation of our institutions like public health, education, water services to US companies. This could mean the privatisation of the NHS, schools and the railways.
- We in Britain believe in higher standards of food production than the United States..
- TTIP's 'regulatory convergence' agenda will seek to bring EU standards on food safety and the environment closer to those of the US. But US regulations are much less strict, with 70% of all processed foods sold in US supermarkets now containing genetically modified ingredients.
- TTIP will allow companies to sue our government especially because of the NHS, in secret courts..
- The EU has admitted that TTIP will probably cause unemployment as jobs switch to the US, where labour standards and trade union rights are lower.
- Once again, Democracy is under threat if we remain within the EU as in effect it means unelected transnational corporations can dictate the policies of democratically elected governments.

Border Controls:

- Uncontrolled immigration is precisely that, 'uncontrolled'; and as a result we can never build enough infrastructure to support it; it fails at a concept level.
- In four years' time the UK will have an extra 1.9 million EU immigrants with NI numbers enabling them to work here legally, according to Government's own data and assuming current trends.
- Those figures exclude the EU agreement of visa free access for Turkey's 79 million people, plus 52 million Moldovans, Georgians and Ukrainians.
- The UK must allow all EU citizens in. Our opt-out from Schengen does NOT change this.
- The Government own data says that 630,000 NI numbers were issued to EU migrants last year, as a result it looks like the true figure of EU immigration could be as much as half a million a year.
- This is not an issue of race, colour or creed. It is simply an issue of numbers; an Australian based points system would allow us to plan for the future in a more even handed and fair manner.

Status Quo:

- A vote to remain is not a vote for the status quo. The Prime Minister's renegotiation has yet to be approved by the EU; the promises to protect Britain from deeper integration are not legally binding and hence meaningless.
- The EU is committed to further and deeper integration, on the Euro, Taxation, Foreign Policy, an Army, Navy and Air Force, and no doubt in due course control of our Nuclear Deterrent.
- The costs of remaining are set to rise another £3.6 billion per year by 2020.
- Britain has never been at the 'Heart of Europe', because we do not want to go in their direction. Several attempts have been made to influence the direction of the EU but to no avail.
- Whichever way you vote, there will be changes; it is important that you pick the right path.

Security:

- Without control over borders we cannot stop who can come into the UK, therefore posing a security risk.
- It is NATO that has kept the peace in Europe.
- The EU wants our seat on the UN Security Council.
- The EU has created the European External Action Service, the EU Institute for Security Studies, the European Defence Agency, the EU Military Committee, the EU Military Staff, the Euro Corps and the EU Battle Groups. Discretely the EU has been building everything it needs to run a combined military under the EU flag.
- Is it safer if the UK can decide its own immigration policy, deport foreign criminals and terrorists, make its own defence decisions and foreign policy?

Security (Cont)

- Safer knowing that you're being protected by our own Army, Navy, Air Force, Police and Coastguard - all governed in the UK? And that your Prime Minister has control of our Nuclear Deterrent?
- Would you feel safer knowing that the rest of the world, including the Commonwealth, is growing faster than the EU and if we leave we can do free trade deals with them? And financially safer knowing that the UK continues to produce more new jobs than all the other Euro zone countries combined?
- It's NATO which has guaranteed the peace since WWII, not the EU and the UK is the only EU member to pay its full contribution to NATO.

Cost:

- The EU now costs the UK over £350 million each week - nearly £20 billion a year.
- In the time it will have taken you to read this article, the UK will have paid £58,219,18 to the EU. Think what that money could do for Britain.
- The EU Commission's own study says that the economic costs of corruption in the EU amount to approximately 120 billion Euros a year (the equivalent of 1% of the EU GDP).
- The EU has protected French farmers through the Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) at a cost of 40% of the entire EU budget, this means food prices are 17% higher than they should be in the UK.
- Since 1973, the Government has sent over £500 billion to the EU, three times the annual NHS budget.
- The EU sets VAT across EU member countries of no less than 15%.
- The UK would be able to lower VAT on domestic energy bills if we left the EU. VAT on household gas and electricity is currently charged at 5% in the UK and EU rules mean we can't lower this, hence improving the cost of living.

Freedom:

- The Government's own report, released on 14th April 2016, confirms that the UK is no longer a sovereign nation, as:
  - the UK has no overall control of its borders
  - the UK has no right to control immigration
  - the EU laws override UK laws
  - the EU decides tax rules
  - the EU now controls vast areas of the life of British people
- The EU is run by 28 bureaucrats who are not elected and who cannot be removed.
- If you do not take care, Freedom can be easily given away, and yet it is not so easily recovered. Unfortunately, where the EU is concerned, did you but know it, your Freedom has already been given away. This referendum is not a choice about whether to give away your freedom but a one time opportunity to win it back.
- Know too, that Freedom is an Action, not a Thing and the Action in this case is clear - it is to vote LEAVE on 23rd June.

What does this mean for the people of Enfield?

Housing:

- We need to build a new home every six minutes.
- Uncontrolled immigration means we cannot build the infrastructure we need, in the case of Housing; it is simply a case of supply and demand.
- Enfield has a severe shortage of Council and Housing Association homes for meeting the needs of everyone who wants one in Enfield.
- In Enfield, over the past five years less than 900 homes became available for letting each year to applicants on Enfield's Housing Register.
- EU rules stop us building the homes we need, with rules like the Habitats Directive causing additional costs and delays.

"As an Enfield MP I made a promise to my constituents that I would vote to leave the EU in order to control our borders. It is now clear that we can only take control of EU migration and have a fairer system, which decides without discrimination which skills we need from EU and non EU countries, by leaving the EU. Join me on Thursday in voting for independence, in charge of our destiny, voting to take control of our money, our laws and our borders."

David Burrowes, Your Local MP

Schools:

- There are 37 schools in Enfield where a majority of pupils have English as a second language which puts pressure on school budgets and teachers.
- By 2020 as a result of uncontrolled immigration Enfield will have a strain on school places.
- Across the country 240,000 new primary places are needed, 37 per cent of them in London. Seventeen London boroughs, mostly outside the centre of the city, face a 'severe' problem, with a shortfall of more than 5%.
- When we consider the fact that the 2015-16 schools block unit of funding is £4,612 per pupil, 100,000 additional school places would therefore cost £461 million. Our gross contribution to the EU in 2014 was £19.1 billion, so 100,000 additional school places would cost just 2.4 per cent of that contribution. Indeed, that figure is just over a week's worth of contributions to the EU.
- London needs 88,000 more primary school places next year and of those Enfield is among the areas at risk of running out of places.
- EU rules delay our building of schools and add millions to the cost.

"I, along with millions of Labour supporters, want to leave the anti-democratic EU that imposes austerity and rigs the market for big corporations. Outside the EU we would be a proud country, freely co-operating and trading with our neighbours without unelected EU Commissioners telling us what we can do."

Kate Hoey, Labour MP

"I was born and have lived in Enfield my whole life. I've seen our membership of the EU result in a strain on the NHS, Education System and Housing because of uncontrolled Immigration. We need to vote to Leave the EU on the 23rd to Control our Borders and Regain our Sovereignty"

Councillor Alessandro Georgiou

NHS:

- Our EU contributions are enough to build a new, fully-staffed NHS hospital every week, yet we are allowing increasing demand, while at the same time cutting expenditure.
- North Middlesex Hospital A&E has the worst waiting times in London and as a result is under threat of closure.
- Enfield has a two week waiting time to see your family doctor due to the increase in demand.
- EU rules cost us more than money; the Clinical Trials Directive badly delays the testing of cancer drugs.
- Some GP practices have gone from a patient list of 1,500 to 4,000 in 10 years.

"27 years ago, I made the choice to move my family to Enfield, a decision I do not regret, however I now recognise that the source of deterioration in our quality of life, is a direct consequence of being members of the undemocratic EU. I want my Enfield back, and I want my Country back too."

Nigel Sussman

Our country has a Deficit of £90 billion and a Debt of £1.5 trillion, the only way to pay that off is to trade our way out and we will never achieve it if we remain part of the EU.

If we LEAVE, we will go from 500 million consumers to 6.5 billion consumers; the only future is Global, we can take our place back on the world stage, and provide a golden future for our children and grand children.

We hope you agree and will vote to LEAVE on 23rd June.
